Service Fund Drive Planned for Sept. 9-16

The Special Gifts dance for the Andover Service Men's Fund is progressing as scheduled and the special gift committee headed by Selectman-Representative J. Everett Collins is working diligently to bring this phase of the drive to a complete and successful end. To date the returns have been most gratifying and encouraging. The house to house drive, under John Erving, is rounding into shape and on September 9, will swing into action.

Each day the various committee heads report that their work is increasing. Need for a closer coverage is necessary. The headquarters at 85 Main street is having considerable detail to attend. Each day people are learning more and more about the fine work being performed by the Andover Service Men's Fund Association. Each day people who didn't know its objects and workings, are eagerly offering their services to the association.

Much of the A. S. M. F. A. work cannot and will not be publicized—but, as the objects of the association stipulate it will carry on doing all things which, to the extent of the funds, it is able to accumulate, may be necessary to carry out its objects—such as bringing comfort and encouragement to those who, in the performance of their duty have suffered a disabling injury and have returned to their homes or have been hospitalized; to recognize in a fitting manner, those who may have been called upon, in line of duty to make the supreme sacrifice; to foster a community spirit throughout the town of Andover, which shall be beneficial to carrying out the program of the association. To perpetuate the ties existing between Andover, and its men and women in the service. In other words, to keep Andover "The Finest Place on Earth," in the hearts and minds of her sons and daughters in service, who are

Exhibit of Pre-Modern Labor-Saving Devices Now On at Addison Gallery

If your automobile tires are thin, your gas at an ebb, and your nerves need stirring, you could do worse than copy the pair of rocking stiltis included in a novel exhibition of hand-made ancestors of our modern production-line implements now to be seen at the Addison Gallery. Many of these labor saving devices will be regarded by the summer visitor with admiration. For in these days of moratorium on mechanical contrivances, objects used in the days before pressure cookers and automatic washers may well command an envious glance.

No hotel room with bath, electric lights, and radio was reserved for the settlers who came to these shores. No taxi awaited them at the pier. They had brought along the barest necessities; what they had not brought had to be made, by hand, of available material with few and insufficient tools. Old and worn articles were rebent and hammered into new shapes. Bits of this and that made new objects, but it was not long before ingenious shortcuts were invented to lighten work and shorten the hours for the housewives and their men in the fields and forests. Once communities were established and daily life became more than a mere existence, time was devoted to daily comforts.

It is more than likely that during your visit to the Gallery you will see at least one object which may make your own day's work seem lighter. The majority of these implements are fashioned from wood, which may seem quaint to eyes accustomed to shining aluminum and steel, but which in no way detracted from their usefulness. If your mechanical lemon squeezer has broken down, you might do well to copy its ingenious ancestor used by some Yankee housewife a hundred years ago. Or if your red points are disappearing too fast, you may cast a longing glance on the butter churn in this exhibition which, being built on rockers, allows the busy housewife to work with her hands while rocking the churn with her feet.

Although a roast of mutton may have been more easily secured by the eighteenth century housewife than by her twentieth century descendant, its cooking was none the less important. The roasting spit shown at the Gallery is only one of a variety of types used for this purpose. It is run by clockwork, and in case it should run down while the cook's back was turned and the roast, ceasing to turn, should burn to a crisp, a bell was added to sound an alarm just before the spit stopped revolving. Even today such a reliable object could be used to advantage.

A washing machine is the envy and blessing of any house, but that it is a novelty of this day of electrical machines is erroneous. At the Addison Gallery you can see the carefully constructed wooden antecedent of our modern machine. It must have made many a Monday less blue in bygone years.

Although the summer session of the Academy has now closed, the Gallery will remain open to the public at the usual hours—weekdays 9-5, Sundays 2:30-5, Labor Day closed.

if You Drink Plenty of Fresh, Nutritious Milk

The tougher your job the more important it is for you to drink at least one quart of milk a day, for "Nature's Most Nearly Perfect Food" is the number one energy-builder in your wartime diet. Townies Chalk Up Seventeenth Win In Boosters' Day Game

Sunday's Booster's Day for the Town Team was an outstanding success, probably the finest ever witnessed in Andover, and was attended by the largest crowd at the playstead this season.

The Board of Public Works had the new stands completed, and the field in fine playing condition.

The Townies chalked up win No. 17 when Jerry Lavoie held the strong visitors to three scattered hits and one unearned run, while scoring three runs for victory. The visitors, as promised by Coach Moher, brought a powerhouse club to town, including four highly touted players and Belfonti, on the mound. The latter is ace pitcher of Woonsocket of the N. E. league who gave the Townies plenty of trouble for three innings. However, the home club got to him in the fifth for two runs and added another in the eighth.

Jerry Lavoie, ace of the Town Team, limited the Waltham Mohers to three hits, and faced only 31 men in the nine innings played. He received brilliant support from his mates, while Artie Moher of the Academy accepted six chances without fault, the one miscue was committed on an attempted double play relay.

The management of the Town Team wishes to acknowledge the fine support given by the merchants, who presented prizes and to the fans not only for their attendance, but also for the excellent results in the purchase of Booster tickets. The players, Coach Wennik and Charles McCullom consider Boosters' Day's success as an outstanding complement and are duly grateful.

Prior to the game a number of events were held as follows fungo hitting, won by Donald Hebsch; second, McCullom. Relay race won by Schiller, Moher, Gartside, Hebsch, over McEvoy, Monroe, Lavoie, Glendinning. 75-Yd. dash, won by Moher; second, Glendinning. Distance throw of baseball, won by McEvoy, after a tie with Glendinning. Accuracy throw, won by Bau-dreau.

Each player on the squad was awarded an individual prize and the judges presented the following players with special awards for outstanding feats performed during the game. Outstanding play of the game, Don Hebsch. Excellence on field, Lavoie. First put-out, by Hebsch. First assist, Gartside. First hit, Miller. First stolen base, Moher. First bunt, Dubois. First run batted in McEvoy. Longest hit, Gartside. Most hits, Miller and Moher.

Captain Eddy Miller was awarded a special prize for loyalty and support to the team and management, while Joe Winnik, future Andover Townie, won one for excellence in work with players.

Motion pictures were taken throughout the day by J. Lester Utley, and Harold Phinney acted as master of ceremonies on his sound system and assistant to the committee, which was comprised of Frank L. Brigham, chairman; Roy E. Hardy, selectman; Dr. Malcolm McTernan and Fred H. Eaton.

Prizes were donated by Greeley's Market, 2; Dalton Pharmacy 2; Town Grill, Temple Radio, Recreation Bowling Alleys, Grecoe Jewelry, Hill's Hardware, Dontos Bros., 2; Walter's Cafe, 2; Andover Play House, Andover News, Elm Street Service Station, Simeone Drug, Hartigan's Drug, Murray's Service Station, Driscoll's Package Store; Tompkins Motor Service, Andover Market, Whitworth's, Lawrence; Curran & Joyce.

What Makes

"A Real American Town?"

Visitor said to me the other day: "Joe, you've got a real American town here—a town you can be proud of."

Afterwards, I got to wondering just what he meant. We aren't much different from any other town our size. A few nice stores ... a village green ... and 27 blue stars on the Service Flag in Town Hall.

Not much exciting happens, either. We work hard ... have our Friday evening socials at the Parish House...and the kids play baseball and go fishing ...

In our private life, we live and let live. If we often disagree on politics...if some of us like beer, some buttermilk ... we still respect one another's rights and opinions.

What makes our town "American"? From where I sit, it's not because we're different but because we're so much like all other towns that add up to America—where self respect and tolerance are guiding principles.

Andover Man Victim Of Lawrence Hold-up

John Vaff, 26 York street, had an unpleasant interruption early this week when, occupied with the counting of the day's receipts at the restaurant where he is employed, he looked up to find himself confronted by a youth levelling a revolver at him.

The robbery took place at the Mecca restaurant on Broadway in Lawrence, and there were two men involved who are now being sought by the police. Seventy-six dollars was taken from Vaff, while a second man, masked, relieved another employee, Michael Ravachuk, of Lawrence, of $65 contained in the latter's wallet.

After obtaining the money, the victims were ordered to the cellar through a trap door, which was then secured by being weighted down by a barrel of potatoes. Twenty minutes passed before the men got out of the cellar, to find that the telephone had been put out of working order. The police were called and several suspects have been questioned, but no positive identification has been made.

and has arranged for excellent accommodations for the team.

At a meeting of the team in early July, it was noted that they make one out of town trip during the season, and their reputation has traveled far, as they have received many invitations. However, one accepted will serve to better advantage to the team, and will offer a well earned journey and experience for the boys who have performed so well on the diamond, bringing top entertainment to the fans, and a high ranking position for Andover in the state, in the baseball field. The recent Boosters' Day demonstrated their popularity and standing with the townfolk.

Upon their return, arrangements will be made for a game Thursday night, Sept. 7; Sunday the 10th, Rockport; Thursday the 14th, a rubber game with the Portsmouth Marines; and Sunday, Sept. 17 the Haverhill Caseys with the highly touted Amillo, Haverhill High's sensational pitcher.

The Townies also expect dates from the Lynn Frasier's at Frasier Stadium in a night game, and are endeavoring to arrange a suitable date to bring back the Casey Club of Boston.

Mrs. Fred Tresher has returned to her home in Braintree, Vt., after a visit at the home of her daughter Mrs. Carl Stevens.

Luck and Fires

Now that we think of it, maybe it wouldn't have made much difference even if we did have some water for that fire that didn't happen a few weeks back. We didn't have any water to speak of, we do have some nice fire equipment to pump the water we didn't have, but we're not too sure that we had enough men to run the engines anyway.

We have two shifts in the fire department—two platoons. On each shift there are three men and either the deputy or the chief at the Central Station. We have two pumps, the big ladder truck, two ambulances, a brush fire truck, and some other pick-up and auxiliary pieces. An ambulance call comes in, and either one or two men have to go out. If the rest of Andover knew, there would be some 22,000 fingers crossed, because if a serious fire had come along, the results might be pretty bad.

The other day both ambulances were out. There was no fire. But let's do a little assuming. A few months back there was a night fire in a frame apartment block. It had made quite a bit of headway before a baby's cry awoke the occupants.

Let's assume both ambulances had been called out that night; the department was even more undermanned than normally; the baby's cry was heard too late. Then the next morning's papers would have told about four or five deaths in the top floor of that building, and the Monday morning politico-quarterbacks would have heaped plenty of criticism on the head of Chief Eddie Buchan.

The chief wants more men, and Andover shouldn't wait for a serious fatality, a holocaust, to convince itself that he should have those men. We're very much prone to let things stay as they are here in Andover. If we know there's a serious waste of money, we'd rather let things lie, or just gloss over them, and if something serious happens, we'd rather let it just die down than take any corrective measures. And if we know that more money should be spent somewhere, we'd rather just take a chance and not spend it.

Let's not wait too long. We've been lucky so far. But let's not count on our luck, because luck has a bad habit of running out. Let's save money where we can; let's spend it where we need it.

Superintendent Admits Slowness in Action

Apparently the recent water controversy is destined to drop off quietly into the land of forgetfulness, with nothing having been done but a lot of talking. An admission by Superintendent Gilliard at the last Monday night's Board meeting that he had possibly waited too long probably has concluded the discussion as far as the Board is concerned.

Like an epitaph to a once very live controversy reads the following passage from the minutes of Monday night's meeting:

"Chairman White asked the Superintendent about the water shortage and he in turn said that he felt that the pumps would gain but admitted that he possibly did wait too long before notifying the owners of lawn sprinklers and swimming pools to shut off using the

The noble work of the A. S. M. F. Assn. is not conflicting in any way, with any national or local functions for veterans or service men. There are no duplications of service. All associations are working harmoniously together. However, this organization represents the citizens of Andover, and is their own means of expressing in a small measure their appreciation to her service men and women.

When the work is completed, and funds are still on hand. The citizens will be called upon, with the service men and women and the officers of the fund association to meet and decide upon a fitting memorial to those who served—but for the present, the committee, headed by Stafford Lindsay, solicit the people of Andover to get behind this drive 100% in order to carry out the work and problems on hand.

the best things in the exhibition, though it was executed by one of the youngest pupils—a 14 year's old girl. The full face chalk drawing, too, is quite good though the medium chosen is rather harsh for this class of work. The Vicar, too, should be gratified by his three portraits, and Mrs. Julian's many friends will recognize her. She is wearing W.V.S. uniform. Then, among others, there is Miss Gibbons of the American Red Cross, also in chalk, the portrait of an English girl who married an American soldier, and two drawings of American soldiers. All the subjects of the portraits gave sittings.

Pinned to one of the screens is a pictorial map of the Town and surrounding district with keys to the various landscapes on view around including a water colour of the Market Place which includes the Guildhall and Cenotaph, a corner view of houses in Winchester Street, Croye, views of St. Mary's and the Angel Inn, the Town Bridge with the mill in the background, a large building faced with corrugated iron which belongs to a corn chandler, Mr. E. T. A. Marchment's picturesque farm at Charlton with its thatched out-buildings and the Art Master's thatched cottage in the same district.

The exhibition is an extremely interesting one and the whole of the work will be sent to Andover, U.S.A., as a token of friendship and to give the townsfolk over there some idea of the personalities and landmarks of the Town from which it takes its name.

The exhibition is open until this weekend.
